PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

1982 is the year of the Fifteenth International Congress of Individual Psychology to be held in Vienna, Austria on August 2-6, 1982. It is organized by the Austrian Individual Psychology Association whose president is Professor Doctor Walter Spiel. This year the Congress is deviating from the usual practice of organizing a Congress limited to Adlerian psychologists. Their goal is to bring about an encounter of Individual Psychologists with representatives of other therapeutic methods. The hope is to work out differences and to confirm similarities with other schools. The hope is that such an encounter can lead to a better understanding of Individual Psychology, other methods, and to open future prospects for the further development of psychotherapy.

Prominent researchers and therapists such as Victor Frankl, Rudolph Ekstein, Michael Mahoney, Erwin Ringle, Walter Spiel, Bernard Shulman, Rhinehart Tausch and Michael Titze, have already agreed to give main lectures and to participate in the plenary discussion to be held at the end of the Congress.

The Congress is the official meeting of the International Association of Individual Psychology and is held every three years. Unlike NASAP, which is a society of individual members, the IAIP is a society of member organizations. The North American Society of Adlerian Psychology is a member.

As has been the practice in the past, this year's ICASSI will also be held in conjunction, two weeks prior to the Congress, from July 8 to 31 at Badgastein, Austria, a famous health spa and resort near Salzburg. It will present a comprehensive program which includes the philosophy and theory of Adlerian Psychology, and a variety of courses, workshops and practice, designed to expand professional and personal growth.

This is an opportunity to meet Adlerians from around the world and to visit Europe. We hope to see many of our friends in Vienna this August.

It occurred to me that NASAP offers a number of services and materials that have never been catalogued and that there is a strong possibility the majority of the membership does not know what is available. For this reason, I asked Neva Hefner to collaborate in compiling the following information. I have also suggested that the Newsletter carry a column on a regular basis listing what is available, from whom and under what conditions.

Audio-Visual Aids Center

This is located at Bowie State College under the auspices of Hal McAbee, Room 110 Robinson Hall, Bowie State College, Bowie, MD 20715. A complete listing of materials available is not at hand. However, the Rudolf Dreikurs' Vermont Educational TV Series is available as well as Leo Gold discussing "Schools for Parents" on the TV program "For Our Times." Materials are available on loan for postage and handling costs.

Adlerian Research Bureau

The University of South Dakota is housing a Research Data Bank, bibliographic reference source for Adlerian research data and literature. Data from published literature and research projects are stored in the computer and available for individuals researching various topics. You may write Frank Main, Adlerian Research Bureau, Delzell Education Center, University of South Dakota, Vermillion, SD 57069 for information.

Radio Spots

A series of radio spot announcements on parent study groups, suitable for public affairs presentations on radio is available through the NASAP office. The cost of the kit, which includes a production quality reel tape for the radio station, a cassette copy of the spots and a script of the spots including the time, is $10. This was a project of the Public Relations Committee under the chairmanship of Carol Arnold.

(Each of the above was made possible through a gift from the Seymour E. Clonick Estate, Sydney Roth, Executor.)

Dreikurs' Films

Two films are available: Individual Psychology in Counseling and Education I, in which Dr. Dreikurs describes the background and basic concepts of individual psychology and Individual Psychology in Counseling and Education II, which discusses such factors as birth order, the use of early recollections as a key to personality, and the concept of human equality. In this film Dr. Dreikurs compares individual psychology with other schools of psychotherapy--Rogerian or Rational Emotive and Reality Therapies. These films are available from the NASAP central office for postage and handling charge of $10 each.

Publications

Four publications are available through the NASAP central office:

1. Alfred Adler as we Remember Him, edited by Guy Manaster, Genevieve Painter, Danica Deutsch and Betty Jean Overholt, $7.95 plus 85¢ handling.
2. International Directory of Adlerian Family Education Centers, edited by Robert Aird, $3.50.
3. Help for Parents--Adlerian Parent Study Groups by Robert Aird and Ann P. Parks, $1.00 or $.75 each in quantities of 25 or more.
4. Family Fun Time by Martha Malterre, $1.25 each plus handling.
5. There are pamphlets about the North American Society of Adlerian Psychology describing purpose, function and objectives of the organization as well as a "Fact Sheet."

I hope this information is useful to the membership as a whole. It certainly has been helpful to us locally in Fort Wayne.

Warmest regards,

Ronald J. Pancner, M.D.
President

REGIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

Region I - Far West

A donation of $366 was received from Region I in December. Dick Huddleston, Treasurer, stated, "Our Region is very pleased to assist NASAP." The Society is grateful for this generous expression of support.

Region IV - Middle Atlantic

Contact: 4 is the name of a new monthly calendar and newsnotes of Region IV of NASAP. Its purpose is to let others know what Adlerians are doing in the region. Two informative issues have been published by the editors, Sharon and Patrick Morris.

Information to be published may be sent by the 21st of every month to the address listed below. Subscriptions are $4.50 for 12 issues. Checks should be made payable to "NASAP Region IV" and sent to:

OF GENERAL INTEREST

Sister Jean Mundy

The central office was informed of the death of Sister Jean Mundy, NASAP member from Hawaii. Shortly thereafter, the following letter was received with a book order:

"I just wanted to enclose a brief personal note stating that my interest in using Adlerian principles with families stems from a deep affection and admiration for my now deceased aunt, Sister Jean Mundy. Until her health failed her, she worked with families in a low income highrise in Honolulu, Hawaii. She had worked closely with Dr. Corsini and had received some earlier instruction under Rudolf Dreikurs."

Thirty years ago NASAP had its first convention. Psychology has changed and NASAP has changed. The purpose of the convention has not changed; it is still a place for Adlerians to gather and exchange ideas and encourage each other. This 30th Annual Convention is a celebration of time and progress. Be in Santa Rosa to be part of the excitement.

The response to the "Call for Papers" has been exciting. The range of topics is phenomenal. Here is a sampling of some of the topics to be presented:

Cooperation Between the Sexes
 Enthusiasm in the Encouragement Process
 Mainstreaming Autistic Children in an Adlerian School
 Battered Women: Lifestyle Study
 The Arts in Psychotherapy
 Use of Trained Natural Leaders to Facilitate School Conflicts

Are you interested yet? Watch next month for another sampling of presentations.

In keeping with our convention theme of "Care and Connect," we are very excited to make a connection with our colleagues we don't usually hear from. Watch for special presentations on Saturday and Sunday given by prominent psychologists in the field of Humanistic Psychology.

As you pack your suitcases and briefcases, don't forget your Western boots and your bathing suit. The El Rancho has three swimming pools and a spa. You will need the boots when you kick up your heels at the country square dance held after the banquet Saturday night. And all that is preceded by a wine and cheese tasting! Of course, you can't miss the NASAP anniversary party after Virginia Satir gives the Keynote address Friday night.

Watch the April NASAP Newsletter for your official registration materials.

New Book

A new book entitled, The Centered Athlete, co-authored by Jon Carlson and Gay Hendricks, has been published by Prentice/Hall--Spectrum Books. The book is sub-titled "A conditioning program for your mind" and uses athletics to reach many of the same goals that counseling and psychotherapy have. By altering the way a person plays athletics and games, we can alter the way the "game of life" is played. Cost $4.95, paperback. Available through publisher.

Donations

The following members have contributed to the work of NASAP by sending in donations over and above dues payments:

Borg, Stuart	Meiers, Joseph
Bouley, Barbara	Pancner, Ron
Cooper, Paul	Reynolds, Boyd
Daniels, Thomas	Sherman, Robert
Dewey, Edith & Milton	Smejda, Carolus & Roberta
Irwin, Della	Taub, Rena
Kalkhof, Chris	Waksman, Joyce
Malterre, Martha	Walton, Kathy
McKay, Gary & Joyce	Zieman, Isaac
McLaughlin, Mike

Martha Malterre also donated 340 copies of her book, Family Fun Time, which may be purchased through NASAP for $1.25 plus 50¢ handling.

Heinz Ansbacher donated 215 reprints of his article on Nijinsky, which were in turn mailed to educators and organizations.

Joseph Meiers donated the postage for mailing the reprints of the Nijinsky article.

The Society is grateful to each of these members for this expression of support so that new projects and additional services may be added for the benefit of its members.

Bibliography

Word has been received from Hemisphere Press that Volume 2 of A Bibliography for Adlerian Psychology will appear in the summer of 1982. The $1,500 donated by NASAP members was forwarded on to Hemisphere Press to aid in the publication of the Bibliography.

NASAP received the following from Harold Mosak: "We want, through the medium of this letter, to thank NASAP and its members for supporting the publisher in this enterprise. All other costs have been borne by us and since we receive no royalties, the two volumes represents a 14 year labor of love and our contribution to making known to our fellow Adlerians and to non-Adlerian scholars the rich publication record of Adlerians."

"We wish NASAP and its members the best in the coming year."

Death & Dying Audio Cassettes

Steven P. Lindenberg, counselor in private practice in Hershey, PA, has written and produced four audio cassettes on the subject of death and dying.

Hey Mark! The Fox is Dead!, a dialogue between three teenagers illustrating the effects of the sudden, accidental death of a classmate on his or her peers.

"Puff! Wake Up!": A Child's View of Death, Grief and Bereavement makes use of a family situation in which a pet cat dies to illustrate a child's view of death, grief and bereavement.

"But Mr. Wilson...Why Did it Have to Be Melissa?" takes place in a senior high school. It was developed to help persons in mid to late adolescent stage of development to understand dynamics of death and dying through the example of the death of a peer.

Deep Muscle Relaxation with Guided Meditation incorporates the techniques of progressive, deep muscle relaxation with guided meditation for those cases involving acute and chronic stress.

Additional information on the audio cassettes and their use is available through Professional Associates. Each audio cassette costs $9.95 and may be purchased through:

NEWSNOTES

Region I - Far West

CALIFORNIA

Santa Rosa--NASAP member Dana Schneider writes of her application of Adlerian counseling techniques in a juvenile justice diversion program aimed at adolescents and their families. The program serves runaway youth, chronic truants, substance abusers, and youth and families in crisis. An advocate for the Adlerian approach, Ms. Schneider introduced parent education groups for parents of teen-agers. The Adlerian method is particularly suitable for teaching families alternative ways to resolve difficulties and deal with misbehavior without involving the police or juvenile justice system. NEW MEXICO

Santa Fe--Jody Adams started another parent workshop on January 21 for Child Protective Services clients and a few other interested state employees. One of her co-workers has volunteered to assist for this ten-week span, which will make some small group activities possible. She is eager to experiment with new games and exercises which seem to create themselves out of the needs of a particular group. She has received one registration from a father, who has custody of his three children, and several from couples. The pace will be quite different from her usual "single mother" groups.

Jody reports that she is delighted to have Lois Thompson as an Adlerian neighbor in Los Alamos. "We'll get an organization going here in the high desert yet!", reports Jody.

ILLINOIS

Chicago--AAI of Chicago: This issue contains the Institute's tentative Summer Schedule. These courses, each offered over a four-day period, provide students who do not live in the Chicago area with the opportunity to receive intensive training in a minimum of time. The course schedule was drawn up in consultation with other institutes in the U.S. and Canada.

Institute task forces continue to work on the development of a doctoral program and a Master's program for educators.

Alumni meetings are scheduled on February 9 and March 2 to preserve the momentum established for the $10,000 Woods Alumni Challenge Grant and to continue the development of the AAI Alumni Association.

Bryna Gamson has been appointed as the Administrative Director of the Rudolf Dreikurs Unit of the Family Education Association. The Unit is currently under the direction of the Institute.

Seymour Schneider, Dean of the Faculty, and Mary Schneider of National College of Education, were interviewed in their home by ABC-TV. They spoke about birth order and personality development. The interview was aired on the early evening news program on February 17, 1982.

Three memorial scholarships are offered to people who attend the 15th Rudolf Dreikurs Summer Institute (ICASSI) in Badgastein, Austria from July 18-31, 1982. They cover both tuition and room and board--no travel expenses.

1. The Rudolf Dreikurs Memorial Scholarship is for a professional person and is chosen on the basis of academic background, leadership potential, commitment for developing a project for promoting Individual Psychology, and a brief description of this project should be included with the request for the scholarship. Applicants are asked to describe their present involvement in Individual Psychology, if any.

2. The Ruth Holger-Nielsen Memorial Scholarship is offered for a lay person and is based on leadership potential, past and present involvement in Individual Psychology, and a proposal for a project is to be submitted along with the request.

3. The W.L. "Bill" Pew Memorial Scholarship is offered for a graduate student and is given on the basis of leadership potential, commitment for developing a project in the community or university, or conducting some action research in Individual Psychology. A brief description of the proposal should be included as well as present involvement in Individual Psychology, if any.

References should be included in each of the preceding applications.

Tuition Only Scholarships are offered at $250 each. Four of these tuition scholarships will be awarded in the United States, four in Canada, four in Europe, four in Greece, and four in Israel.

Persons in the U.S. applying for scholarships should address their requests to:
